Last weekend's South East Runners' event was a very enjoyable outing to Helms Arboretum on Sunday morning, hosted by the Maccan family. Competitors vied for vouchers from Bean Break coffee van, with the winners being those who most accurately estimated the distances. We were told the distances were "2-ish", "4-ish", or "8-ish".

Ellecia Smith won the prize for the "2-ish" event, guessing 2.4km, with the actual distance being 2.5km. Jo Loffler was the winner of the "4-ish" event, with a guess of 4.8km, which was just under the actual distance of 4.9km. Howard Reddyhough managed to be spot on for the "8-ish" distance, guessing 7.4km.

Next weekend's event is another cross-country one, this time out at Kepwari walk trail. The start venue is the ski lake car park off Windabout Way; and start time is 4pm on Saturday. Distances range from around 1.5km to around 6km.
